Open Letters To The Board Of Supervisors

Carmel Highlands Association
January 8th, 1958.

Board of County Supervisors,
Monterey County,
Salinas, California.

Gentlemen:

At the January meeting of the Carmel Highlands Association, the membership voted unanimously to support the recommendations made by the Carmel Highlands Advisory Planning Committee concerning the proposed re-zoning of the Stevens-Bigelow property from R-1 to R-3.

This Association deplores the rejection of the recommendations made by the this committee, as expressed by the Monterey County Planning Commission and urges the Planning Commission to reconsider its action in recommending the re-zoning of this property. Highlands residents feel that rezoning of this property is arbitrary, inconsistent with the orderly growth and development of the Carmel Highlands, and constitutes an invasion of the property rights of those residents who have purchased or built homes in this area, relying upon the good will of the Monterey Planning Commission to respect and protect those property rights. Every resident in the Carmel Highlands urges the Monterey Planning Commission to maintain the existing zoning as it stands at present.

Furthermore, relying upon the American principle of consent, we urge the Monterey County Board of Supervisors to exercise its lawful authority and maintain the present zoning of this property in R-1 category. Certainly, we who live here and are intimately cognizant of the details of our own area know what is best for our own neighborhood.

As the basis for the request for re-zoning, hardship is claimed by the Stevens-Bigelow interests. This claim will not hold water.

The facts are long after the Bigelow residence was built, the adjacent Tickle property was zoned as R-4. The Bigelows had every opportunity to protect this zoning. Furthermore, they had the opportunity and the means to pro-

Notice To Carmel Highlands Residents and Friends

The Carmel Highlands is the last fort that protects those residential, historical and scenic values which make for good living and prosperity on the Monterey Peninsula.

It is now under attack.

Private, out-of-town interests now seek rezoning, a charter to destroy the basis upon which the future of the whole Peninsula depends.

Rezoning has been recommended by the County Planning Commission, in spite of opposition from its own technical staff and from the Carmel Highlands Advisory Zoning Committee.

Now it's up to the County Board of Supervisors, to accept or reject this recommendation of the County Planning Commission. The supervisors have the last and decisive word.

Interested citizens are going to attend the meeting of the County Supervisors, to be held at the Court House in Salinas on Monday, January 20, at 2:00 o'clock p.m. Everyone on the Peninsula who wants to protect his home and his future is invited to attend.

Those who desire to offer transportation or who need transportation may call Mrs. Marion Douglas, MA 4-7272, or Mr. H. Fletcher Rogers, MA 4-3250.

—Carmel Highlands Association.

Four CHS Juniors Are Nominated As Overseas Students

Mike Blanton, Sam Farr, Polly Gann and Lucinda Lloyd are the candidates selected this year by the Carmel High School American Field Service selection committee to apply to go overseas as exchange students. Polly and Michael are applying to the national AFS office, in New York, to be placed in a foreign country for six months, Sam and Lucinda for the summer months. The local committee, made up of members of the teaching staff, students, AFS foreign exchange returnees and townspeople, have nominated these junior students on the basis of adaptability, human understanding, outgoingness, intellectual curiosity, knowledge of government, understanding of their school system, plus ability to assume the responsibility of being an AFS foreign exchange student, the wish to participate in the AFS program, and two years' foreign language study here.

The New York AFS office reserves the right to select all, some, or none of these local nominees. Seven years ago, when the AFS program was started, 17 junior high students were sent abroad. This year 1500 are expected to be chosen informal ambassadors, "representing American youth as American youth would like to be represented".

The four Carmel High juniors nominated must compete nationally with selectees from all over the country. They are only able to be named because Carmel High School students each year raise enough money to bring a foreign student to Carmel for one school year, and some family in the com-

Green New Police Car Has Busy Day

A leaf green (water lily leaf) Plymouth sedan, all tricked out with two-way radio, radar, siren and big red light, drifted around town Wednesday while alert Carmelites exclaimed,

"Hey, look, the new police car!"

Who got to drive it on its first day of duty? Chief of Police Clyde Klaumann wasn't walking Wednesday. He wasn't driving it, of course; when about noon, going up Ocean Avenue a car stopped, wham, without warning, in front of it and it got its new front bumper bent. The bumper was replaced in time for it to go to a 5:00 o'clock fire, looking as new as ever, and stealing the show from the conflagration, which turned out to be nothing but smoke, anyway.

The new Plymouth's running mate is the year old, baby ribbon blue Chevy, and it replaces the two-year-old pink Ford.

City Attorney Advises Council To Bar R. To W. Initiative From Ballot

If the city council follows its attorney's recommendation, given at an adjourned council meeting yesterday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock, the right-to-work initiative city ordinance will not be put on the municipal ballot.

Citizens are circulating right-to-work initiative petitions in the 13 Carmel precincts this week with the intention of placing them before the city council at its February 5 meeting. An initiative petition is not just another Carmel petition. If the proper legal routine is followed, and a specified number of registered voters sign it, it is mandatory that the proposition be put on the ballot—or so everybody thought. City Attorney Morse informed the city council that such is not the case.

"You are not required to put an illegal law on the ballot," he told them.

"Suppose you got an initiative petition to declare war on Washington. You could put it on the ballot but you wouldn't have to."

He stated that in his opinion the proposed right-to-work initiative ordinance is illegal.

When he advised the council to turn down an informal petition to pass a right-to-work ordinance several months ago he stated that he thought that such legislation is not within jurisdiction of a city and recommended that the council await the decision of the fourth appellate court on the Palm Springs right-to-work ordinance.

He repeated that advice yesterday, and added a new element. "An initiative (for a right-to-work measure on the the state ballot) is before the attorney general. The city would be better advised not to place it on the ballot. The question has not been definitely established at this time whether cities have jurisdiction. My feeling is that it has been pre-empted by the state. The council should await decision on the Palm Springs case."

(That decision came through this morning. See page 1 story.)

"Substantial" Majority In Valley Vote To Annex

The two Carmel Valley School Districts voted to withdraw from Monterey and annex to the Carmel Unified School District in Tuesday's noon to 7:00 p.m. elections, held separately in the Tularcitos and Carmelo districts.

Tularcitos voted 327 yes; 206, no; Carmelo 131 yes, 97, no.

The Carmel school board meets Tuesday evening, 7:30 o'clock to take formal action. At their last meeting, the Carmel board passed a resolution that they would accept the Valley schools if there was a "substantial" yes vote.

With the approval of the Carmel board, the County Board of Supervisors at their January 27 meeting, will certify the election and declare the annexation completed.

The Valley districts do not join the Carmel District fiscally until July 1, 1958; but after February 1, they participate in bond or over-ride tax elections.

Carmelo district brings an assessed valuation of one million 805,700 to the Carmel District; Tularcitos, four million, 987,190.

And What's Your Tree Candidate For Junipero St.?

At a committee meeting at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday evening, four city councilmen, city officials, and interested property owners agreed that some trees should be planted in the center of Junipero Street to extend the planting, which runs from Fifth to the middle of the block, to Sixth Street intersection.

It will not be possible to provide center parking there until the Borden's Dairy, which now requires maneuvering space for its trucks, moves out of town.

"It's rumored they've found a location," Keith Evans volunteered. "They should be out in a year."

"Let's get the trees started, anyway, even if we can't have the parking until later," urged Rolly Belvail, a property owner in the block.

Mr. Evans said the center parking would impede the trucks that serve his Plaza Fuel but thought he'd move his business out of town within two years, and build a stores downstairs-apartments upstairs building there. Meanwhile, he'd like to see the center trees planted, too, and suggested red eucalypti.

Councilman Carl Patnude didn't favor the eucalypti because he couldn't spell them, besides, he'd like to see the city take a flutter in redwood trees. Somebody thought it might be nice to have

Valley And Carmel In "Check List" Meeting Today

A meeting of Carmel and Valley School officials and County Superintendent of Schools Gladys Stone was held this morning in Carmel School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell's office to make a "check list" of things to be done to facilitate the merge of Valley and Carmel school districts.

Under consideration were: new classroom needs for Tularcitos and Carmelo schools — the valley primary students will continue to attend their own schools; transportation for valley high school students who will attend Carmel High School next fall; transportation and tuition arrangements with Monterey for valley students who will wish to continue at Monterey High School next year; arrangements with the county for library and visual aid service for the valley elementary schools.

In attendance in addition to Mr. Mitchell and Miss Stone: Tularcitos Superintendent Wayne Greenfield; Carmelo Principal Dick Lawitzke, Carmel High Principal Warren Edwards, Curricula Materials Supervisor Eleanor Crouch.

Appellate Court Rules Against Palm Springs

City Attorney John Morse learned this morning that the Fourth District Court of Appeals for the State of California, sitting in San Bernardino yesterday affirmed the decision of the Superior Court of Riverside County that the Palm Springs' Right to Work Ordinance is illegal.

This is the decision that the city attorney has urged the council to await before taking action on a right to work ordinance for Carmel. (See story this page).

Captain H. M. Gleason, Chairman of the Right to Work Committee, which is circulating an initiative petition in Carmel this week says, in reference to the appellate court decision.

"That is just another court decision. It will undoubtedly be appealed to the supreme court. We shall go right on with our petitions. We can't be expected to wait until all legal decisions are in. It will never end."

On being informed that the city attorney had recommended yesterday that the council not allow the right to work initiative to be put on the ballot for the city election, Captain Gleason said:

"It is a sad condition when the council takes the attitude it will stand between an issue and the right of the citizens to vote on it."

The concluding paragraph of the superior court ruling in the Palm Springs case read: "Since the State of California, by enactment of Sections 921, 922 and 923, and the courts have determined that it is the law of this state that unions and closed shop agreements are 5-Question Ballot On Annexation Goes To 1300 In Unincorp.

Carmel Unincorporated's newly elected board of directors, meeting Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the high school, decided to send out 1300 ballots to sample opinion in the Adjacent Carmel Area on annexation to Carmel.

The ballot, which will be accompanied by a two page digest of the John Ruster cost survey, will present the following questions:

"Do you favor annexation to the City of Carmel, yes or no?

"If annexation is not approved, do you favor formation of a fire protection district combined with the city, yes or no?

"Or independent of the city, yes or no?

"Do you prefer to maintain the

Sporting NOTES

LIVE OAK, KING CITY, AND SANTA CRUZ NEXT FOR PADRE CAGERS

Another tough weekend of basketball is in store for the Carmel High hoop squads as they travel to Morgan Hill tomorrow night for a pair of league tilts with the Acorns and then make the long trek to King City to test the Mustangs on Saturday night. The King City game was originally scheduled to be played at Carmel but previous rental of the Carmel gym forced the Padres to switch playing sites. The hard-trying Carmel hoopsters hit the road again next Tuesday when they visit Santa Cruz for a pair of practice games with the Cardinals.

At Live Oak tomorrow night, the Carmel varsity will be meeting a team which is looking for its first win in league competition this season while the Padre lightweight squad will be meeting the only undefeated lightweight aggregation in the league. Always tough on their home court, the Acorns are a dangerous club capable of beating any team in the league when the outside shooters are hitting right. Carmel has always had trouble beating Live Oak in basketball and the Red and Gray squad is hoping that Lady Luck will favor them tomorrow night. The Padre varsity will go with a starting unit of Bill Hicks and Phil Durbrow, forwards; Art Wilkerson, center, and a guard duo of Frank Wallace and Dale Dawson. Most improved player for the Red and Gray has been Bill Hicks, a husky junior, who threatens to be one of the league's best before he graduates. Another varsity cager who has come fast during the past two weeks is Art Wilkerson, gangling pivotman, who can shoot with the best of them but still lacks passing ability to be an outstanding post player.

Carmel's lightweight squad has its work cut out for it at Live Oak tomorrow night and will have to be hitting on all five to get over the classy Acorn Babes. The Live Oak lightweights have won the championship for the last two years and appear to be the class of the league this season. However, if the local lights can put together the good shooting shown at San Lorenzo with the sterling defense thrown up against Palma, they could pull off an upset against the heavily-favored hosts. The Carmel lights will open with a starting unit of Russ Wise, David Farr, John Doud, Walt Helm, and Pete Willcox.

CARMEL LOSES PAIR AT SAN LORENZO; SPLIT WITH PALMA

An accurate-shooting gang of hardwood experts out of the mountains surrounding the San Lorenzo Valley gave Carmel High's varsity and lightweight squads a cage lesson at Felton last Friday night and established themselves as definite threats to any of the schools in the B-division. The Padre lights were clipped 51-49 in a thrilling preliminary tussle while the Big Padres just missed, 49 to 47. The San Lorenzo Babes put on a hustling exhibition to win the opener as their classy set-shot expert, Jerry Chandler, pumped through 30 points. The varsity clash was knotted at 47-47 with three seconds left when a Cougar desperation shot hit the net for the winning two-pointer.

Russ Wise and John Doud carried most of the scoring for the Padrecitos at Felton, Wise hitting for 15 markers and Doud chipping in with 12. Bill Hicks, Dale Dawson, and Phil Durbrow packed the scoring punch for the varsity which put on a sterling comeback in the second half to erase a 16-point deficit accumulated during a cold first half.

Saturday night at the Carmel gym the Padres entertained the Palma Chieftains from Salinas and earned a split in the evening's competition. The Padre varsity were outsped by the swift Chieftains and dropped the verdict, 62 to 51. Carmel's lightweight squad, after a cold and uninspired first half, came with a rush in the third period to post a 31-18 win over the Chieftain babes. Highlight of preliminary lightweight tussle was the airtight defense thrown up by the Padrecitos in the second half. The visiting lights were blanked from the field during the entire second half and picked up only 6 points from the free throw line.

Superior speed was the big difference in the varsity clash as the quick Palma cagers turned on the heat to run away from the comparatively slow Padres. Tom Gorman, a dribbling demon with a variety of shots, put the spark in the Palma attack and was high scorer for the evening with 19 points. Bill Hicks pumped in 16 points to lead the Padre scorers in the scoring department. Dale Dawson played his usual clever floor game and chipped in with 14 markers to help the Padre cause.

CROSBY GOLF TOURNAMENT BREAKS ALL RECORDS

With an assist from the weather the 1958 Bing Crosby Invitational Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament established new standards for attendance, prize money, and interesting golf. Winner of the big money was Billy Casper, a pudgy shotmaker out of Chula Vista, California, who turned in a sparkling 277 for the 72 holes played over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, Cypress Point, and Pebble Beach. On the final day at Pebble Beach, Casper shot a steady 71 to snow under his closest opponent, Bob Rosburg, who soared to an unsteady 81. Tied going into the final round at 206, Casper and Rosburg were paired in the feature foursome which also included amateurs Bob Reynolds and Nelson Cullenward. Besides winning top money in the professional division, Casper and Reynolds were runners-up to Jay Hebert and Roger Kelly in the pro-am division. Hebert and Kelly had a 260 in the pro-amateur division and the top spot earned $2,000 for the popular pro from Louisiana. With a help from television and the Murray Corporation of Detroit, this year's Crosby Tournament take was much larger than in past years and the four day's swinging netted winner Billy Casper $5,500. Big shot in Casper's winning round at Pebble Beach on the final day was a sparkling two on the 11th hole. The Apple Valley pro hit a perfect nine iron from 130 yards out which found the cup on the second bounce.

Fair weather with a brisk wind greeted the golfers on Sunday's final day of play at Pebble Beach and the wind had a vital part to play in Hebert and Kelly winning the pro-am division of the Crosby Tournament. On the 6th hole, amateur Kelly putted for an eagle 3 but appeared to have missed the shot by a fraction of an inch. However, after a two-minute wait for a favorable wind shift, the ball dropped into the cup to give the pro-am team the necessary stroke advantage to edge out Casper and Reynolds.

Financially this year's tournament was the best of them all with over $70,000 being netted for charitable purposes. Carmel's Youth Center concession also did more business than ever before as Jack and Bonnie Giles plus the hard-working members of the popular spot provided food and drinks at the Country Club and the Pebble Beach courses.

At Sunday night's Victory Dinner, Bing and a star-studded cast entertained players, guests, and workers with a three-hour show which was highlighted by Bing's final song which promised that the Crosby Tournament would again be held on the Monterey Peninsula next year.

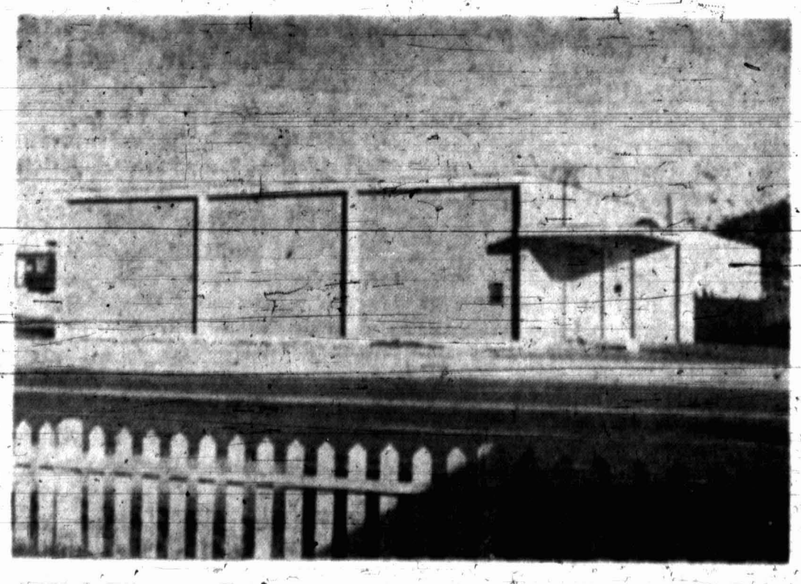
WHAT'S DOING

D. D. Muir, your Telephone Manager in Carmel

What have we here? A dinosaur skeleton? Or a monster from one of those spooky movies the kids seem to like so much? Wrong both ways. These are pre-formed telephone cables. They're for the switching equipment that helps handle your calls. How are these "gentle monsters" born? First, telephone people hammer nails in just the right places. Around this pattern—sort of like a jig-saw puzzle—they run thousands of wires. In the end, the whole thing's ready to fit right into a phone system. By doing wiring jobs like this in advance, we can expand service faster—to meet your growing needs.



Growing with Seaside. Above is the new central office on Broadway Street, Seaside. The Pacific Telephone Company has invested over one half a million dollars in building and equipment to provide modern efficient service and keep pace with the ever growing city of Seaside.

Letters . . .

The following is an answer to Flavia Flavin's letter of protest (in last week's Pine Cone) at the unsightly parking lot at Carmel Beach.

Point Lobos Reserve State Park
Carmel, California,
January 12, 1958.

Miss Flavia L. Flavin,
Carmel, California.

Dear Miss Flavin:

Thank you for your letter of January 8, 1958 in which you express concern over the Carmel River Beach Park parking area. We sympathize with your point of view and always appreciate the opinions of people, who like yourself, enjoy the unmarred natural beauty of places.

We will, in time, do what is necessary to make the new developments at the Carmel River Beach Park as unobtrusive as possible. Where there is new construction, there is frequently an unsightly mess until the area can be cleaned up and landscaped with native plants. We are giving much thought and consideration to the problems relative to preserving the natural beauty of the Carmel River Beach State Park and its accompanying developments.

The area of the parking lot is designed to take care of from 35-40 cars. This was the minimum size, which it was thought necessary, to alleviate the hazardous parking condition in the area. Black-top covering was used because of its durability and economy. It is believed that after the parking lot has been in use for a while, it will take on the sand color of the surrounding beach The tides, winds and people carrying sand on their feet should see to this. If nature does not camouflage the parking lot adequately, we will then give consideration to some artificial method of coloring the black-top surface.

Thank you again for your letter expressing your views on the Carmel River Beach. We value public opinion very much in our work. Please be assured that we consider the natural beauty of the Carmel River Beach and other areas under our jurisdiction of prime importance.

Sincerely yours,
M. Frincke, Park Supv.

Planning Commission Looks Over Plans For 54 Motel Units

The Carmel Planning Commission considered plans for 54 motel units in study session yesterday afternoon, discussed commercial district signs and decided to protest to the County Planning Commission against the size of lots in in Carmel Knolls subdivision.

Robert Stanton presented a scale model of a proposed addition to Normandy Inn. The 24 unit, 21 off-street parking spaces structure is to be immediately south of the existing Inn.

Plans for five more units added to three existing units on property immediately north of Hofsas House were presented to the commission for study by George Woolsey representing owner Sumral Otrich.

Six unit addition plans to the Cheerful Tortoise owned by Walter Fremier, represented by Paul Bosholm of the firm of Elston and Cranston, were returned for off-street parking revision.

A conference room and apartment to be added to La Playa Hotel was also presented in plan form for the commission to study; also remodeling of a building on Lincoln Street which formerly was occupied by Senator Fred Farr's law office.

Next the planning commission discussed, informally, signs in the business district with emphasis on motels. After a plea from Building Inspector Floyd Adams, who advocated a strong policy about business district signs, the commission decided, at the suggestion of Chairman George Willox, to consider making a public statement of commission policy on this matter.

Commissioner Herbert Blanks, who, representing Carmel commission, protested Carmel Knolls lot size before the the County Planning Commission on December 17, yesterday afternoon reported county discussion on Carmel Knolls to Carmel planning commission. Commissioners indicated they would again protest the reduction of lot size to less than one acre in this subdivision at the mouth of Carmel Valley. Formal action on all above matters will be taken at next Wednesday's regular meeting of Carmel planning commissioners.

William Foster

William Foster, a resident of Jamesburg for 37 years died on Sunday night in a Salinas hospital after several months of failing health. Mr. Foster operated a soft drink and beer stand in front of his home and was known unofficially as the Mayor of Jamesburg, and liked to be addressed as "Your Honor."

He was born in San Francisco on October 5, 1881. In his youth he was a welterweight boxer and boilermaker. He was a great hunter, dog trainer, and fond of children. During the years he greeted all visitors at Jamesburg, which consists of the house in which he lived, he delighted everyone with his colorful stories and original personality.

A sign hanging in his stand epitomized his attitude towards life. The sign said: "This is my life. I like it and to hell with your criticism. Wm. Foster."

He was a member of the Twin Peaks Parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden West and the Golden Gate Aerie of Eagles.

His sister, Mrs. Mary Bauer of San Francisco survives him.

Rosary was recited at the chapel of Muller Mortuary, Salinas, last evening. Funeral services were held this morning at the chapel, with Requiem Mass celebrated later at St. Mary's Nativity Catholic Church in Salinas. Burial took place at Holy Cross Cemetery in Colma this afternoon.

Mona Williams Interviewed

Yesterday morning Mona Williams left for San Francisco and last night was interviewed on TV Station KQED by John Geoghegan on his Books and Authors program. Today Mona, with West coast representatives of G. P. Putnam Sons, publishers of her novel The Marriage, is meeting San Francisco booksellers. The book is being released on January 24 but is already being displayed in local bookshops.

Carmel's assessed valuation is 29 million 364,550.

The valley elementary students will continue to attend their own schools, Carmelo with an enrollment of 81; Tularcitos, 370. Valley high school students will eventually be bussed to the Carmel High School, but those now enrolled in Monterey High School, who wish to remain, will continue there under a tuition arrangement with Monterey to be paid by the Carmel District.

Valley junior college students will continue to attend Monterey Junior college on the same arrangement as Carmel and Pacific Grove students, their tuition paid by a tax levy on the school districts in the county which are not a part of a junior college district; or under the same arrangement they may attend any other junior college in the state, a freedom of choice not open to them while the valley schools were part of the Monterey High School District.

Those attending: Mayor John Chitwood, Councilmen Carl Patnude, Everett May, James Buffington; City Engineer Clayton Neill, City Street Superintendent William Askew; property owners Keith Evans and Rolly Belvail.

William O. Wiley, father of Mrs. J. P. Gilbert of Carmel, died yesterday in New York City. Mr. Wiley spent winters Carmel for many years until ill health prevented him from traveling.

He was born in East Orange, New Jersey, on December 27, 1862. After graduating from Columbia University in 1882, he entered the family business, John Wiley and Sons of New York, a scientific publishing house, which last year celebrated its one hundred and fiftieth anniversary. At the time of his death, Mr. Wiley was honorary chairman of the firm.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Kate Wiley of New York; two daughters, Mrs. Gilbert of Carmel, and Mrs. Hamilton D. Darby of Newburgh, New York; two granddaughters, Mrs. Wallace L. Quimby of New York and Miss Elizabeth Gilbert of San Francisco; and one great granddaughter, Elizabeth Gilbert Quimby of New York.

Appellate Court Rules Against Palm Springs

lawful, it is not for this court to say that defendant City of Palm Springs has the right to enact a right to work law, and therefore prevent that which the federal and state law says is lawful."

The seven page opinion of the appellate court upholding the superior court decision used much the same language: "because of conflict with state labor policy and law."

The opinion concluded with the comment that the court was ruling on the "validity" of a right to work law and "making no comment on its advisability."

City Attorney Morse applauded this tag end observation. "That's my stand from the first. I have no opinion on it. My sole function is to advise the council as to what is valid."

Festival Quartet Gave Brilliant Life And Lucidity To Brahms

By Eben Whittlesey

The Carmel Music Society does not often run the risk involved in presenting the same artists in two seasons successively. Only with a sure-fire hit is this safe. The Festival Quartet was safe, however. Its second appearance in Carmel was as stimulating as the first. All four players, Victor Babin, piano; Szymon Goldberg, violin; William Primrose, viola and Nikolai Graudan, cello, are fine artists of solo rank. Their ensemble work leaves little to be desired.

Piano quartets are a form of chamber music in which enjoyment is not limited to the really hard-shelled devotee of the classics. A string quartet is sometimes a little hard for the average concert-goer to enjoy for a whole evening. Part of the success of the Festival Quartet at Carmel is due to the fact that Sunset Auditorium is a good auditorium for small instrumental groups.

Saturday's program was a rigorous one both for artists and audience. Brahms quartets are hardly in the dinner music class for performance or hearing, and three of them in a row present a challenge as well as a very interesting opportunity for comparison. Each work was interesting in a different way, but there were times when the elaborate and involved structure became a little overpowering. Perhaps the most stimulating qualities of the Brahms might have been more deeply felt had they been heard in contrast with either an earlier or a modern composer.

Quartet Opus 26 in A Major opened the concert. Its first movement has a long and interesting colloquy between the piano and strings in which the themes worked out. The second movement has a particularly fine cello part in which the large tone produced by Mr. Graudan filled the hall with its vibrant melody.

Quartet in C Minor, Opus 60, provided a distinct change of pace. Its dramatic opening is followed by an exciting development intermingled with passages of great tenderness. In the second movement there is a fine pizzicato passage. This work shows a more highly developed style and more variety in form and invention than the earlier one. There were passages of humor and gaiety, and at times a bit too much ostentation. The artists provided a clarity of interpretation and an even consistency and balance which was remarkable.

For the last work on the program, following the intermission, the artists returned to an earlier work, the Quartet in G Minor Opus 26. This music is more open, lighthearted and less introspective than the others. The first movement is serene, flowing and lyric, with episodes of whimsy and color. The third movement is fiery and spirited with a fine pizzicato passage. All of the artists appeared to advantage in this excellent closing number, bringing to it a gaiety and enthusiasm and lightness not always associated with Brahms in the mind of the average listener. The final movement, marked "Rondeau a la Zingarese" had some of the barbaric zest of a Russian dance, drawing a warmly enthusiastic response from the audience. These artists gave brilliant life to a program which might have seemed heavy, and a transparently clear performance of music that is highly involved.

AWVS Raised Over $11,000 In 1957

At the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services meeting Friday, Mrs. Carl Menneken cited the special fund raising events held during the year. Under the general direction of Mrs. Roy Page and Mrs. Edward McMurtry the Treasure Show, held in the Jack's Peak home of Francis H. I. Brown, netted $2,460.58 for the Carmel Foundation; the annual Garden Tour, $2,136.41 for the Visiting Nurses Association, and a smaller project, Arm Chair Cruises given by Dr. Michael Hagopian, brought in $225.90. She paid special tribute to the successful Thrift Shop in Seaside, under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. M. Crane, which averaged profits of $535 a month in 1937, bringing in a year's total of $6,429. "More than half of our year's proceeds came from the Thrift Shop earnings", Mrs. Menneken stated.

Copies of a comprehensive report, compiled by Mrs. Gilbert F. Kinney, treasurer, were distributed to members, listing gifts of $10,048.61 made by MPVS in 1937. While the largest sums went to the Carmel Foundation, the Family Agency and the Visiting Nurse Association, substantial amounts were contributed to thirteen other organizations, active in the charitable, educational and cultural life of the community.

After reports were given, Mrs. Carl Menneken, retiring president, turned the gavel over to Mrs. Archer Allen who listed the members of her board of directors as follows: Mrs. Glenrose Bell Jaffe, vice-president; Mrs. Gilbert F. Kinney, treasurer; Mrs. G. W. C. Whiting, recording secretary; Mrs. Thornton Allen, corresponding secretary. Committee chairmen serving on the board include Mrs. Isabelle Boggess, hospitality; Mrs. Wendell Coates, nominating; Mrs. Fletcher Dutton, budget; Mrs. Carl Menneken, membership and placement; Mrs. Boyd Mewborn, thrift shop; Mrs. Roy Page, projects, assisted by Mrs. Edward McMurtry; Miss Margaret Prosser, publicity, and Mrs. James H. Parks, member at large.

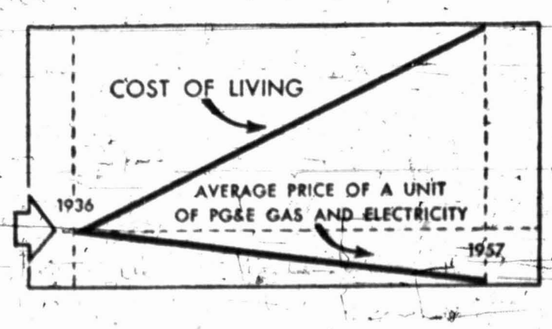
He spends 6 minutes here... to save his wife hours at home

Captain Lloyd Jensen, Santa Fe Railway tugboat skipper, finds his pay for just 6 minutes will run a houseful of appliances for 24 hours.

In about the time it takes to back his tug away from a pier, Captain Jensen has earned enough to heat and light his Oakland home for 24 hours. This 6 minutes' pay also provides the gas and electricity that operate Mrs. Jensen's 30 labor-saving appliances (like the food mixer she's using).

By any comparison, gas and electricity are unusual bargains. Your P. G. and E. bill may be higher today than in past years, but that's because you use more gas and electricity—for better living. The average cost of a unit of gas and electricity is one-third lower today than in 1936.



Live better—gas and electricity are cheap in California

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg.

This library is happy to tell you that a copy of Mr. Nelo Drizari's new novel is ready for circulation. The title is The Song of Irena, and it is a story of Albania in the present day. Eventually, it will be shelved in our Carmel Authors collection, but before then we want it to circulate as many times as possible. A waiting list is forming on it, so come in and sign up for it.

The New America is a collection of the edited speeches and notes of Adlai Stevenson taken from the 1956 campaign. The arrangement is by subject and the index is good. Thus we have a permanent record of the problems debated during the campaign and of Mr. Stevenson's stand on all of them. The issues that were being discussed then are still issues and are still being discussed. This record is valuable and timely.

An interesting book on a lesser known phase of French history is entitled Louis XIV and Marie Mancini, and was written by Monica Sutherland. Marie was a niece of Cardinal Mazarin. Her deep love for the King lasted for five years and ended only when she left France to make a new life with her husband, the Prince Colonna. This account is sympathetically written and gives an interesting picture of the times.

A new biography of Henry M. Stanley, the man who said Dr. Livingston, I presume, is by Byron Farwell and is aptly entitled The Man Who Presumed. Henry Stanley was a man of contradictions. This biography is said to "bring full dimension and understanding to the man and excitement and authority to his adventures".

Many of you remember from personal experience hearing Carl Sandburg reading his poetry, chanting it really, and accompanying himself on the guitar. Perhaps this was a forerunner of the poetry with jazz sessions of today. Carl Sandburg not only writes excellent poetry, but also history, biography, autobiography, and fiction. A new collection of his works is assembled under the title The Sandburg Range. The aim here is to present every aspect of the literary output of this great writer and much new material has been added to round out the picture. Did you ever think that the last stanza from Sandburg's poem Interior could seem to describe a small library in a small town? It goes:

"Rabelais in red boards,
Whitman in green,
Hugo in ten-cent paper covers,
Here they stand on shelves
In the cool of the night time
And the clocks."

Blair Show At Craft Studios

Virginia Blair Hannon is having an exhibition of her paintings and tile paintings opening January 17 at 8:00 o'clock in the evening at the Carmel School of Art in Carmel Craft Studios.

The show will be on display through February 7 and can be seen from 11:00 to 4:30 o'clock daily except Sundays. Mrs. Hannon, as Virginia Blair, took an active part in the art life of the Peninsula when the Blair Gallery was operating on Fisherman's Wharf in Monterey, and is well known for her ceramics. A one-man show of her tile paintings of Shakespearean subjects was shown at the Ashland Shakespeare Festival in Oregon. She received her art training in four years at the Art Institute in Chicago and later training at University of California in Berkeley. She has had one-man shows at the Beverly Hills Hotel, at Books and Arts in Hollywood, and here on the Peninsula. Her work has been included in exhibits at the Art Institue of Chicago and sent from there in traveling shows. These recent paintings to be shown at the Carmel School of Art are in oil and collage — some tile paintings will also be shown.

Sierra Club Nature Study Tour

In spite of dark clouds, which threatened to bring rain Sunday, over 60 people turned out for a nature study tour of the Monterey Peninsula sponsored by the Loma Prieta Chapter of the Sierra Club. Visits were made to the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History, the butterfly trees at Milar's Butterfly Grove Motel, Pt. Pinos and the Pacific Grove shoreline. The latter part of the day was occupied with a three mile hike over trails and roads in the Del Monte Forest to visit the grove of rare dwarf Gowen cypress and nearby stand of Bishop pine at the head of Sawmill Gulch, and observe other interesting plants in the area. Fremont Ballou of Carmel led the group.

Those arriving in the morning were invited by Mrs. A. T. De Rome of Pacific Grove to bring their lunches and eat at her home, where she and her son Walton, a club member, served coffee and cake to the visitors.

Margaret Nieto Married Sunday

The altar of Carmel Mission was decorated with white pompoms, carnations and stock for the military wedding on Sunday afternoon, at 1:00 o'clock, of Margaret Louise Nieto of Carmel and Lieutenant Joseph Richard Philbin of Camp Roberts. Organ music was played while the 300 guests assembled. Ralph Lykins sang Prayer Perfect immediately before the ceremony, performed by Chaplain Gregoire Ratte of Fort Ord, and the two ushers and six swordsmen, in attendance, formed an arch of sabres under which the bridal couple walked as they left the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, August Nieto of Carmel, wore a dress of white Chantilly lace and satin. The Empire bodice of the gown, with long sleeves and a Sabrina neckline, was fashioned of the lace, as were also the appliques adorning the full circular skirt of satin which swept into a short train in back. A cap of satin and pearls held the bride's fingertip veil in place and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Katherine Nieto was her sister's maid of honor in a gold velvet dress with the ballerina length skirt straight in front and flaring in back. She wore a circlet of matching velvet and net in her hair and carried a bouquet of gold pompoms. Her shoes matched her dress.

Bridesmaids were Brenda Cullins and Katherine Phillips, San Jose State College classmates of the bride. Their blue velvet gowns and head bands were similar, in style, to those worn by the maid of honor, and they carried arrangements of yellow carnations.

Lieutenant Peter R. Maitland, USMC, a former Clinton, Massachusetts, schoolmate of the groom was best man.

Mrs. Nieto attended her daughter's wedding wearing a champagne colored lace, sheath dress, matching hat, a yellow orchid corsage and brown accessories.

Mrs. John P. Philbin, mother of the groom, wore a Paisley print dress, in shades of red, green, tan and brown, a matching flowered hat, yellow orchid corsage and beige accessories.

The reception, immediately following the wedding, was held at the Carmel Craft Studios, owned and operated by the bride's father. Bouquets of white flowers, arranged with greenery, were used as decorations throughout the large central court and the same flowers adorned the tables from which the wedding cake and refreshments were served. An arch of greenery also backed the cake table, lighted by candles in silver candelabra.

After a honeymoon at an undisclosed destination, the bride and groom will live in Paso Robles.

The bride is a graduate of Junipero High School and attended Monterey Peninsula College and San Jose State College. The groom has a bachelor of arts degree from Middlebury College, Vermont, and before that attended schools in Clinton, Massachusetts, his home town.

Formerly associated with the Hearst newspapers for over 25 years, Mr. Burgess retired when he came to Carmel from the position of director of photography for the Los Angeles Herald Express. He had formerly worked in Chicago and San Francisco. Now he is free lancing, happy that his work can be done in his home.

What is your Dollar worth?

According to the latest reports, your dollar is worth only a little more than 49 cents. That won't buy you much in the way of food, clothing or many of the other essentials of life.

But it will provide a great deal of water service—about 2000 gallons worth. That's a bargain you just can't beat these days.

Our dollar, also, is worth less than half its value of a few years ago.

When we purchase equipment or construct new facilities, we must pay more than double the price for the same value.

We are thankful that under these circumstances we are able to supply water at our present low rates.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How spiritual understanding of God, divine Life, increases happiness and longevity will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Reading from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon on "Life" will include the following (Proverbs 313, 16): "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding.... Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honour."

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (487:27): "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (27:1): "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?"

munity volunteers to have the foreign student live with them for this length of time.

Carmel High students going abroad pay their own transportation but live in a foreign country with a family which entertains them. This is the first year Carmel students have applied to stay overseas longer than the summer months. Polly Gann and Mike Blanton, applying for six months abroad, will attend foreign schools, as foreign students here attend American schools. They will, if selected, endeavor to show other countries that Americans can meet foreign school requirements in scholarship. At the present time European students, such as the seven who have attended Carmel High School, have come to the United States understanding that the year in our schools would be lost scholastically. According to Miss Dorothy Wright, Carmel High vice principal, each of these students has been able to meet graduation requirements within six months of returning to their native land, proving that American schools have helped them educationally. The AFS and State Department are hoping that placing American students in foreign schools, under the six months' program under which Polly and Mike hope to go abroad, will prove that our students can compete equally in foreign education systems. This proved, it is hoped foreign students in America will, reciprocally, receive full scholastic recognition for their work in our schools when they return home.

Open Letters To Board Of Supervisors

tect their ocean view by acquiring the Tickle property. At the proper time, they showed no interest in these matters. By sleeping on their rights and opportunities, they have stopped their assignees - by - gift from claiming hardship at this date.

Granting that the Bigelows made a mistake in permitting the zoning of the Tickle property for R-4 uses, we protest against compounding this mistake by zoning adjacent property for use as a tenement house.

What about the hardship imposed upon those whose single family residences are close to the Stevens-Bigelow property?

A sub-standard tenement house—one that could not ever be built under the existing building code—would depreciate the value of their property. With very good reason, they could and would eventually plead hardship and demand that they be allowed to convert their single family dwellings into tenement houses.

This is the natural history of blighted areas in every city in this country that is cursed with a blighted area. But a few enlightened communities resolutely maintain their zoning laws, so that, when a house is old and worn out, it is either remodelled or replaced, to the enhancement of the entire community, where new home owners can build with confidence.

May we point out that this matter of zoning has wider implications?

Monterey Peninsula happens to be blessed with historical, scenic and residential advantages, all put together in such fashion as to be unique and unsurpassed. If our community planning is keyed to the preservation of what we already have, the possibilities for happiness and prosperity on this peninsula are almost without limit. We can create conditions favoring a stable, continuing and increasing prosperity that is not contingent upon business conditions elsewhere, and naturally, the benefits of this would accrue to the entire county.

We beg leave to present our case before you at your next meeting.

Yours truly,
Carmel Highlands Association,
David Harold Fink, M.D.,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Auditions Set For Spring Season Of The Civic Ballet

The Monterey Peninsula Civic Ballet Company welcomes all advanced dancers throughout the county to participate in its Spring season, Dorothy Dean, director, announces. Dancers are invited to audition Saturday at 1:00 o'clock, 529 Polk Street, Monterey. Mr. Frank Bourman will direct the audition. The company is composed of young dancers from several schools throughout the county. Three major concerts have been given this past season.

Due to the encouragement and response of the audiences and critics, the Civic Ballet Company is increasing in size and repertoire, Mrs. Dean says, and she urges all new dancers to audition and avail themselves of the opportunity to perform professionally with this civic organization.

The Ballet Company workshop class and rehearsals are on Saturday at 1:00 o'clock, thus enabling dancers from out of the Monterey area time to attend all rehearsals. Also this scheduling allows the dancers to continue with their training in their respective schools.
